

Finnvera's role in export financing

Finnvera acts primarily as the credit risk guarantor in export transaction financing arrangements.

Financing a company's export working capital

- Pre and post-delivery financing for the exporter, in collaboration with a bank

Bank Guarantees

- Bank Guarantees for tender periods, advances, deliveries, and warranty periods, in collaboration with the exporter's bank

Managing a company's buyer risks, and buyer financing in exports

- Covering of receivables / manufacturing period against credit loss
- Long term financing granted to a foreign buyer by
 - guaranteeing an export credit granted by a bank, or
 - direct credit granted in smaller export transactions (less than 20 million)